Background

The Lansdowne Club has been a private members' club in the heart of Mayfair since it opened in 1935. Uniquely for the time, it provided equal membership status for male and female members from a wide range of backgrounds. The club's founding principles were built around being a 'social, residential and athletic club for members of social standing' and their families. Unlike many London clubs, it has no vocational, artistic or political theme and while the club has evolved over the years, these founding principles remain in place today with a club ethos of providing a 'home from home'.

Expression of Interest

In order to become a member of The Lansdowne Club all applicants are required to be proposed and seconded by two existing members of the club. On the occasion that an applicant is unable to provide a proposer or seconder it is possible to express an interest by completing this form.

The Lansdowne Club has a waiting list for membership which is currently managed on a one in one out basis. From time to time, the club may call upon applicants outside the waiting list. At this stage, the club will review any individuals that have expressed an interest in membership and invite them for an interview with the Club Secretary, followed by an interview with a panel of selected members from the Club's Council and Committee's.

Please note that by expressing an interest there is no guarantee of being invited for an interview. Should the applicant garner full support from both meetings the usual application process will then apply*.
